ABOUT ME

I'm a final-year Computer Science and Engineering student at SETGOI, ready to contribute my skills to drive innovation. Proficient in Java, HTML, CSS, and JS, I possess a strong foundation in algorithms, data structures, OS, AI, and Automata. Eager to transform ideas into reality, I'm seeking opportunities to make impactful contributions to an organization's success. Let's collaborate to push boundaries and create a future where technology and creativity converge

PROJECTS

- Mathematical Calculator (In Progress): Currently developing a robust mathematical calculator to demonstrate proficiency in algorithmic implementations. The project is focused on optimizing performance and adding advanced mathematical functions.
- Good Habits App (In Progress): Building a habit-tracking application aimed at helping users monitor and improve their daily routines. Features include progress tracking, personalized reminders, and data visualization to analyze habit-building patterns. Currently working on integrating Firebase for data storage.
